In detail

Sarah enrolled at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art at the age of 15. After finishing at RADA, she debuted as Shirley Taylor, a "husky wide-eyed nymphet/school girl in Term of Trial (1962), in which she falls in love with her teacher, played by Laurence Olivier. She was nominated for the BAFTA Award for Best Newcomer. For her role as Vera from Manchester in Joseph Losey's The Servant (1963), she gained another BAFTA nomination, this time as Best Actress. She also won a special acting award at Cannes for the 'The Hireling'. A jewel of a film opposite Robert Shaw. After acting in several plays from 1966 to 1969, Sarah was cast as Rosy in the leading title role of Ryan's Daughter (1970) which gained her an Oscar nomination. Her performance as Anne Osborne in The Sailor Who Fell from Grace with the Sea (1976) was nominated for a Golden Globe.
